

It would be greatly appreciated by the constituents of states who have already had the foresight to enact laws regarding telemarketing calls, if your law would exempt said states or allow for greater state control to be taken. I now enjoy peaceful evenings that are free from telemarketing calls because Indiana has a law on the books. Don't assume that you know what's best for everyone. Let the states have some ability to legislate.